d. During the reporting period elements of this Command have participated in one major unit operation (Operation "OAKLAND"), seven small unit actions and have provided security for seven convoys between the Chu Lai Combat Base and Quang Ngai. In addition the light section of the Second Platoon, in support of B/2/5 on Hill 76, have fired a minimum of eighteen major caliber rounds per night as H & I Fires.

For the first time since July 1965 the Commanding Officer had operational control of all three of his organic platoons. See reference (o).

e. Detailed Description of Significant Events.

1. Tactical Employment of Ontos. During the reporting period Ontos have been utilized for BAI fires. This appears to be an effective innovation, particularly when Antitank units are located in Company combat bases beyond the range of artillery fires.

2. Logistics.

a. During the present reporting period the requirement for ontos track and road wheels has increased. These items are considered critical if the Company is to continue to perform its mission adequately.

b. Company Order 11240.1 established company contact teams in the areas of tracked vehicle, motor transport and communications maintenance. These contact teams will visit the antitank platoons weekly for the purpose of instruction, inspection and supervision of 1st echelon maintenance. While frequent visits were made in the past to the antitank platoons by qualified personnel, it is felt that putting these visits on a scheduled basis will afford the Commanding Officer greater control over the maintenance effort in this Company.

On 15 July the N/3/7 combat base was attacked. Four men were wounded. LCPi R. J. BECKER 2133863, and PFC J. A. VETRO Jr 2144426, were evacuated. Sgt E. D. SCUDDER Jr 1670203, and PFC R. W. VOCKE 2128801, received minor wounds and were not evacuated.

During the battle, C-32 fired 17 major caliber rounds.

On 26 July the company participated in Operation "FRANKLIN". The Company Headquarters group maintained liaison with 7th Marines CP group. Third Platoon had a heavy section in direct support of 2nd Battalion 7th Marines and a light section in support of 3rd Battalion 11 Marines. Second Platoon sent one vehicle with a section of tanks in support of 1st Battalion 7th Marines.

On 27 July the company headquarters group returned to the company CP.

On 28 July the heavy section of 3rd Platoon and the Ontos from 2nd Platoon returned from Operation "FRANKLIN".

On 29 July a light section from 3rd Platoon returned to Company I, 3rd Battalion 7th Marines. A light section of 3rd Platoon returned from support of 3rd Battalion 11th Marines.

11. Results. The Ontos did not have the opportunity to conduct any fire missions on this operation. The goal of the operation was to clear the area with a supported infantry sweep. The Ontos with 2/7 provided constant support and were able to traverse the entire area. Had the sweep met with heavy enemy resistance, immediate heavy mobile firepower was available for close-in fire support. The cross-country employment of Ontos by 2/7 once again displayed the overland capabilities of this weapon.

13. Special Equipment and Techniques. No comment.

14. Commander's Analysis. This operation again proved the versatility of the Ontos. During the course of this operation the Ontos were used in three distinct roles. The first and recommended method was the close support of infantry in an overland sweep. The second role was the use of Ontos as convoy support for 2/7 and 3/11. The last and least preferred role was security for the artillery position.

The Commanding Officer of Company C received favorable comments from the Commanding Officer and S-3 of the 2nd Battalion, 7th Marines, on the overland performance of the Ontos.

15. Recommendations. That the Ontos continue to be employed on infantry sweeps.
