f. Detailed Description of Significant Events.

1. During the reporting period, the use of Ontos within the TAOR of 1st Marines has increased significantly.
2. During the reporting period, the requirement for short inner axles has increased. An effort is being made to correct driving practices, but due to the regularity of the breaking of axles the fault can not be laid to driving practices exclusively. The procurement of inner axles is material to the continued operation of the Company.

2. Commander's Narrative Summary of Significant Events

a. As a result of the CHOP of the 1st Platoon to Company "C", 1st Antitank Battalion, during October, Company "B" was reduced to a Company Headquarters and two organic Antitank platoons.

b. During the entire month of November Company "B" remained in direct support of the 4th Battalion, 503rd Airborne in the northern portion of the 1st Marine Division TAOR. The Company Headquarters was co-located with the 4/503rd (Abn) Headquarters. At the commencement of the reporting period the 2nd Platoon was supporting Company A, 4/503rd (Abn) occupying two section positions commanding the Hai Van Pass and the northern mountain approaches into the Da Nang Combat Base. The 3rd Platoon was in support of Company "C" 4/503rd (Abn). One section occupied positions on the eastern finger of Hill 190 overlooking the Song Cau De. From these positions interdiction fires could be placed up and down the river as well as on the high ground to the north and west. The other section supported a platoon combat base in the western portion of the TAOR. One Ontos from the 3rd platoon reinforced a roadblock on the bridge which spans the Song Cau De at the point where it flows into the Bay of Da Nang.

ENCLOSURE (1)

RRT/drp
2 December 1966

On 2 November this Ontos was relieved of the above mission and joined the section located on Hill 190.

c. Based on the recommendations of the Commanding Officer of this Company the Commanding Officer 4/503rd (Abn) decided to displace a light section to his Company "B" Combat Base on Hill 22 at AT 905719. A significant obstacle to this plan appeared to be a stream reportedly unfordable to vehicular traffic. A bridge across the stream had been washed away in the early monsoon floods. Rather than delay the displacement until a new bridge could be constructed, on 2 November, the Company Commander led a patrol to reconnoiter the stream and attempt to locate a ford for the Ontos. The patrol accomplished its mission in that a ford was located about 150 meters downstream from the old bridge.

d. Despite the existence of the ford the displacement of the section to the B/4/503rd (Abn) Command Post was delayed until 7 November. The displacement was accomplished utilizing a newly constructed pontoon bridge across the stream discussed above. The light section which moved in to support B/4/503rd (Abn) was a combined section, one Ontos from both the 2nd and 3rd Platoons under the operational control of the 3rd Platoon Commander. The disposition of the Antitank units for the remainder of the reporting period was as stated below.

Unit	Location
2nd Platoon CP	AT 944919
Lt.Sect,2nd Platoon	AT 944919
Lt.Sect,2nd Platoon	AT 931885
3rd Platoon CP	AT 897821
Lt.Sect,3rd Platoon	AT 897821
Lt.Sect,3rd Platoon	AT 892772
Lt.Sect,3rd Platoon (Combined Section)	AT 905719

e. On 3 November the 3rd Platoon supported C/4/503rd (Abn) on a company - size search and destroy operation in the west central portion of the Battalion sector. The 3rd Platoon set into blocking positions to the east and south while the infantry swept eastward through the village of Than Hoa Trung. No contact was made with enemy units during this operation.

f. On 4 November the Commanding Officer, 1st Antitank Battalion, Major R. E. HARRIS was killed as a result of a Viet Cong ambush. Major HARRIS, accompanied by the Company Commander, was visiting second platoon positions in the Hai Van Pass area. The ambush was sprung from the seaward side of the road halfway up the pass. The Battalion Sergeant Major and the Battalion Commander's driver were wounded in the action.

ENCLOSURE (1)

RRT/drp
2 December 1966

g. On 23 November a light section of the 3rd Platoon moved into supporting positions on Hill 190 to provide on - call fires for elements of C/4/503rd (Abn) which was sweeping the area north of the Song Cau De from Truong Dinh through Hoa Lac on an axis of advance generally east. No contact was made by the infantry and no rounds were expended by the antitank unit.

h. During the month of November the antitank units of this Company have been utilized for extensive harrassing and interdiction fires. A total of 989 major caliber rounds were expended during the reporting period, almost all for the nightly Hand I fires. In addition, the Ontos sections of the 3rd Platoon have frequently participated in both combat and reconnaissance patrols with their supported units or subordinate units thereof. Despite the heavy rains during this period the Ontos has proven itself capable of traversing any terrain necessary for the accomplishment of its mission. In only one instance has an Ontos found itself mired down in mud and it was retrieved within minutes by the other Ontos in its section.

i. As the reporting period ended the 4th Battalion, 503rd Airborne was preparing to return to its home base at Bien Hoa. It will be relieved by the 3rd Battalion 9th Marines. The Company Commander is preparing recommendations to present to the Commanding Officer, 3/9, for a redistribution of Ontos units. It is the opinion of this Command that the inherent mobility of the Ontos is not being gainfully employed since the 2nd Platoon, on the Hai Van Pass, is operating in a completed static position. The Commanding Officer's recommendations will include displacement of the 2nd Platoon into the lowland portion of the Battalion sector while replacing the Ontos in the mountains with either ground - mounted or mule - mounted 106mm recoilless rifles.
